FEDERAL AGENTS JOIN IN PURSUIT OF TEXAS ROBBER

Bandit Escapes From Police in Fight Near Chicago

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—Federal agents joined police today in pursuit of a man they believed to be Hulton Ted Walters, 25, a Dallas, Texas badman wanted for bank robbery at Bradley, Ark., who escaped in a running gunfight with suburban Summit policemen.

Daniel M. Ladd, agent in charge of the G-men's office here, said he assigned his men to the chase after being notified by the local officers.

An automobile carrying five persons speeding past the Summit police station started the pursuit. Chief John Van Ort took after it, exchanging shots. The car stopped abruptly and the man believed to be Walters escaped on foot.

Chief Van Ort took prisoner the other four who gave their names as Robert Warren, 38, and Theodore W. Lee, 39, both of Coal City, Ill., and Lorraine Wilson, 20, and Neal Hearn, 20, both of Shreveport, La. The chief said there were four rifles, two pistols and a shotgun in the car.

Accepted Story
Chief Van Ort said he accepted the story of Warren and Lee that they were merely casual acquaintances out for a ride, and that they did not know the car was laden with guns or piloted by an alleged bank robber.

The fugitive apparently stole an automobile from a passing motorist. Police traced him back south to Joliet, Ill., where the party had congregated last night at a tourist camp.

A friend of the fugitive had stayed at the Joliet camp when the party started for Chicago, police said.

The girls, they said, identified a man as Floyd Garland Hamilton. Police records showed Hamilton also is an ex-convict and wanted with Walters for the Arkansas bank robbery.

The man believed to be Walters got back to the Joliet camp, picked up his friend and escaped ahead of pursuing state and county policemen, they said. State police set up by radio a highway blockade as far south as St. Louis.

Story of Movements
Chief Van Ort said questioning produced this story of movements of the party.

Misses Wilson and Hearn met the men called Walters and Hamilton in Shreveport and started a tour with them northward.

At Coal City the girls met Warren, a bartender, and Lee, a salesman, who were on vacation, and introduced them to the other men at Joliet. Warren and Lee offered to show the group the "sights of Chicago." Except for "Hamilton," they all started from Joliet, the girls wearing riding clothes. Their high speed set policemen on their trail.

Walters, who is wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has a criminal record dating back to 1930. Van Ort said. His last crime, according to FBI records, was the robbery of the bank of Bradley at Bradley, Ark., on June 19, 1938. The records show he escaped April 30 from the sheriff's office at Montague, Texas, where he was being held on a charge of automobile theft.

Postponement

Albertville, Ala., July 29.—(AP)—Circuit Court Judge A. E. Hawkins, who presided over the original "Scottsboro" trials, threatened today to postpone sentencing of criminals until the present state administration was out of office.

Judge Hawkins announced yesterday in open court that he was postponing sentence of a man convicted of a felony "until the fourth Monday in January, 1939."

He said the "administration of justice is the most disgraceful this state has ever known," and criticized the "wholesale pardons and paroles being issued by the current administration."

Governor Bibb Graves in Montgomery said he had "nothing to say in criticism of the official acts of any court."

TWO SOLDIERS RESCUED FROM CANYON LEDGE

Marfa, Texas, July 29.—(AP)—Two soldiers, hoisted by block and tackle from a narrow canyon ledge on which they marooned five days after attempting to ride flood waters of the Rio Grande, on automobile inner tubes, agreed today "another day and we'd have had to jump back in the river."

Private Clarence Hanson of Santa Fe, N. M., his feet blistered, and his endurance almost gone, remained last night at the top of the cliff to which Sergeant Clyde Ryberg of Minneapolis were hauled from the shelf 1,500 feet below.

Ryberg walked 10 miles to a Mexican settlement where he obtained automobile transportation to Fort D. A. Russell.

He told how he, Hansen and Private Harry Buckman of Paris, Texas, were caught in a whirlpool just after they entered the canyon mouth. Buckman drowned. He and Hansen struggled their way to safety on a ledge 1,000 feet up the canyon wall.

He said the three entered the river seven miles above the canyon mouth Sunday about 9 A. M. Inside inner tubes, and tied together chain-like with rope, 25 feet apart.

"We floated about seven miles and I reckon it must have taken two hours," he said.

Inside the mouth of the canyon a whirlpool on a ledge caught Buckman. Ryberg related.

"Buck, Hansen, and myself were pulled down and then it was a fight to live."

Hansen and I finally came up on the surface about 150 yards down stream. We never saw Buck again. His inner tube came back and we both knew the river had got him."

Ryberg and Hansen made their way up the ledge.

MUSSOLINI 55 TODAY

Rome, July 29.—(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini had something today that he didn't like—his 55th birthday.

Italian newspapers, usually lyric about any occasion involving the Duce, were silent; in the Mussolinian concept, fascist Italy personifies youth; Mussolini personifies fascism; hence any notice of his advancing age is taboo.

Forgot; Dead

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—Louis Metz's two mules invariably lost their wrath when he spoke to them.

The last time he entered the stable to feed them he forgot his usual greeting and patting. The animals kicked and trampled Metz, injuring him fatally.

Before he died, Metz absolved the mules of blame:

"I forgot to talk to them and they did not recognize me."

Fishmonger's Song "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" Inspirational

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

New York, July 29.—(AP)—They say that Jack Judge, erstwhile fish monger who has just died in his native England, helped win the World War with his immortal song, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary"—a favorite of the soldiers of every allied nation.

That claim will be disputed by few of us who went through the war, and saw the Yankee doughboys and British Tommies and men of other lands come swinging along the winding roads of death and glory to the tune of "Tipperary."

Jack Judge's song made the "long way" easier for the boys, just as it brought pleasure to millions of simple hearts the world over.

This song was a "natural" for the troops. When you have said that, it is difficult to go on and

BRAZIL REJOICES IN DEATH ENDING BANDIT'S CAREER

One-Eyed Lampeao Slain Last Night in Battle With Police

Rio De Janeiro, July 29.—(AP)—There was rejoicing in Brazil today because death had ended the career of One-Eyed Lampeao.

For 20 years he robbed and killed, cut out the tongues of garrulous women, and made them and their menfolk dance naked in the streets.

Lampeao, or Lampost, 38 years old, bespectacled and pint-sized, and his sweetheart and eleven of his gang were slain last night in a battle with police near Macao, Alagoas state, northeastern Brazil.

One policeman was killed and several wounded.

In nearly a thousand previous battles, Lampeao always managed to fight his way clear of the law, to roam through the northeastern hinterland, continuing to plunder and often cutting off ears or legs of those who fell into his hands.

Cruelty Was His Pleasure

Cruelty was his pleasure, and it was said to be his particular delight to take over a village and force the leading citizenry to doff their clothes and dance before him.

He had always a supply of women in his hideouts, and authorities said many of them bore him children, to fill the ranks of his bandit army.

Many are the tales of fantastic orgies by the bandits after a profitable theft.

Their tactics were to gallop swiftly into remote towns or attack small clusters of houses, to loot, violate, mutilate, kill and flee.

Warned Victims

Many of his victims never told of their terror. If they went to police, Lampeao always warned, "I shall return."

It is commonly believed the theft of a cow started Lampeao on his career. His father gave him the animal, and in hate Lampeao slew the man who stole it.

There was a concerted but vain effort in 1935 by troops and police, with radios, auto trucks and machine guns, to track down the bandit.

Once an expeditionary force was organized, but it spent $30,000 without getting under way and had to quit because there was no more money. Other expeditions, frequently were talked about, but the cost always seemed too great.

Mrs. Lizzie Hill Died This Morning

Mrs. Lizzie Hill, a resident of Dixon for many years, passed away this morning at 3 o'clock. She was born in Westfield, Mass., Jan. 23, 1856 and came to Dixon with her parents at the age of nine months, having resided here for 82 years. Her husband and four daughters preceded her in death.

Three daughters survive her: Mrs. L. R. Mathias of Waukegan, Mrs. Lela Atkinson of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Mrs. Harry Fuhs of Dixon, with whom she has resided for the last 20 years. One sister, Mrs. Carrie Seybert of Long Beach, Calif., and one brother, Arthur B. Campbell of this city, together with five grandchildren also survive.

GOP PUBLISHES BOOKLET WITH FDR'S REMARKS

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—The Republican National committee has published a booklet of quotations by President Roosevelt in which it charged that "intellectual dishonesty permeates the entire fabric of the President's philosophy."

The quotations were taken, the committee said, from the President's published "Public Papers" and from newspaper accounts of his utterances.

The booklet is being distributed among party speakers and others for use in the Republican attack on the Democratic party in this fall's general election campaigns.

A preface declared that "many manifestly misleading or unfair statements will be found in the record."

"Obvious inconsistencies are included," the committee charged, "brazen reversals of position made in order to capitalize on changes in the political situation; promises made to one group which are basically incompatible with promises made to other groups are found throughout."

The committee advised its campaign speakers that some quotations were included because of their expression of New Deal objectives. These, it said, can be used as "yardsticks" with which "to gauge the performance of the New Deal."

Other quotations, it was stated, were included "for use in refuting arguments of the allies of the President in his own language."

Former Resident of Franklin Grove Dies

Negro Cult's Farm Near Roosevelt's

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—Followers of Father Divine, Negro cult leader, took title today to an estate, across the Hudson river from the home of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the former owner of which had contested with Roosevelt over the name "Krum Elbow."

Howard Spencer, long-time Roosevelt neighbor, argued with the president over whether the old Dutch name "Krum Elbow" rightfully belonged to the 500-acre Spencer estate, or to the historic Roosevelt property, near Hyde Park.

The debate apparently ended when Mrs. James Roosevelt, the president's mother, declared in favor of Spencer.

A deed transferring title to the Spencer farm from the Krum Elbow Holding Corporation, of which Spencer is president, to 21 Divine followers, was filed today in the Ulster county clerk's office.

Gaus C. Bolin, Jr., Poughkeepsie, Negro attorney for the Father Divine's followers, filed the deed. The sale price was given as between $40,000 and $50,000.

Bolin said his clients expected to develop the estate as a farm.

She read him through John Marshall high school, through Loyola for his Ph. B. degree in 1936 and now through the same school for his Master's degree.

Schultz expressed an ambition to teach history at the state institution for the blind at Jacksonville, Ill.

Trial of Ousted C. I. O. Men Recessed

Detroit, July 29.—(AP)—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, accusing defense counsel of "deliberate delay and wilful abuse of procedural rules," today adjourned the trial of four suspended U. A. W. A. vice-presidents until Saturday, August 6.

The officers were accused by Martin of conspiring with communist party leaders to disrupt the automobile union. Their trial before the union's executive board started Monday.

Martin said today that a woman witness, who was to have related an alleged "deal" to turn control of the Wayne county union of labor's non-partisan league over to communists, had "received a mysterious telephone call, threatening her if she testified."

Martin said she was a former communist party member who heard at a communist meeting details of a "deal" Martin said was made with Richard T. Frankenstein, one of the suspended U. A. W. A. officers. Frankenstein is county chairman of the league.

Martin said any testimony she gave would be presented in an affidavit, and that her name would not be revealed even to the executive board hearing the trial.

World Flier Extended City's Welcome By Mayor Kelly

A crowd of enthusiastic Chicago greeters estimated at 11,000 by police cheered lustily and part of them broke through police lines to surround the ship.

Hughes and three of his companions on his recent 'round the world flight stayed in the plane for 15 minutes while police and airport attendants struggled with the yelling throng.

A flying cordon of motorcycle police finally came out to force the crowd back so Mayor Edward J. Kelly and other officials could extend the city's formal welcome.

The five-man crew which circled the globe in three days, 19 hours, will continue westward tomorrow through Houston, Texas to Los Angeles.

Open automobiles were driven onto the field after the crowd was gotten under control.

Hughes and Lodwick, with Mayor Kelly entered the first car, the others of the crew the second. They were whisked off downtown to the lakefront for a parade up Michigan boulevard and back through the financial district to the city hall.

A civic banquet at the Palmer House was on the program for tonight.

Japs Drop Bombs on 3000 Refugees

Shanghai, July 29.—(AP)—Japanese fliers were accused in Chinese reports today of causing hundreds of civilian deaths during persistent bombardments of the middle Yangtze river region.

Chinese dispatches from Nanchang said Japanese raiders spied 3,000 refugees in the Lushan mountains south of Kiukiang and dropped bombs on them, killing "un-counted hundreds."

A Japanese naval communiqué charged that Chinese planes bombed the Japanese hospital ship Tachibana Maru near Kiukiang although she flew a Red Cross flag. No mention was made of the damage.

Another report asserted Japanese airmen raided Nanchang, important air base 90 miles south of fallen Kiukiang, "gateway to the Hankow region," and dropped 30 bombs that killed or wounded 600 and destroyed many houses.

The Japanese were silent about the trend of battle on the Kiukiang front but Chinese maintained the situation on the south bank of the Yangtze was "developing favorably."

Senate Will Be Asked to Express Opposition to FDR's Third Term

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—Senator Holt (D-W. Va.) an administration critic, said today he would ask the 1939 Senate to express formal opposition to a third term for President Roosevelt.

He had intended to introduce such a resolution during the last session, he added, but had held it up "pending proper time."

Holt explained the resolution would be similar to one which the Senate passed, 56 to 26, while Calvin Coolidge was president in 1923. That resolution was introduced by Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) and was considered after Coolidge had issued his famous "I do not choose to run" statement.

Another proposal involving the 1940 election, as well as all future balloting, may be offered next year

SHOOTS HIMSELF AFTER TURNING ON EX-FAMILY

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Pearl Willis, 34, and her daughter, Jean, 14, were shot and seriously wounded in suburban Harvey today, Police Chief George Burton, 41, of Highland, Ind., who then fired two shots into his own head.

Physicians at Ingalls Memorial hospital said Burton and his daughter probably would not survive. Mrs. Willis' condition was described as "not critical."

The shooting occurred in the home of Mrs. James Cannon where Mrs. Willis and her daughter were visiting. Chief Swanson said they came to Harvey two weeks ago from "somewhere" in California.

Swanson said Mrs. Cannon told him Burton left his former wife 13 years ago, shortly after the birth of Jean. Later, Mrs. Cannon told the police chief, Mrs. Burton married a California man, who died three years ago.

Burton appeared at the Cannon home early today after James Cannon had departed for work and asked to see his former wife. Mrs. Cannon said she told him Mrs. Willis was sleeping but allowed him to enter when he told her it was "important."

"He went into the bedroom occupied by Mrs. Willis and her daughter," Chief Swanson said. Mrs. Cannon told him, "and in a few minutes he fired several shots. Mrs. Willis was killed, ran out of the bedroom, and fell herself in the bathroom. She opened a window and called out."

Swanson's neighbors told him Burton was on the front porch of the Cannon home then fired two shots into his head.

Horror of Youth's 17-Story Leap
He Leaps . . . His Body Smashes Through Hotel Marquee

Plunging through a glass and steel hotel marquee, John Ward's body is pictured in this remarkable photograph just an instant before it struck the sidewalk after his 17-story suicide plunge. The photo, taken by Charles Haacker, NEA Service-Acme Newspictures cameraman, shows horrified spectators leaping out of the way of the hurtling body.

Final Act in Manhattan's Macabre Tragedy

This was the end of the horrible, 11-hour suicide drama enacted by John Ward. His body, terribly crushed, is shown on the sidewalk in front of the Gotham Hotel in New York, just a fraction of a second after it struck. Policemen—hardened by many encounters with death—are shown as they stood by in horror, unable to move for a few seconds after the body landed. Ten thousand sickened spectators, held back by police lines on New York's famous Fifth Avenue, witnessed the fatal plunge after watching for hours while police and Ward's relatives vainly sought to dissuade him from leaping.

New Fund Raising Organization for Democrats Formed

Springfield, Ill., July 29—(AP)—Supplanting the Iroquois Illinois League as an agency for raising Democratic state campaign funds, a new association of state employees known as the "Illinoisans" began functioning today.

John J. Donoghue, assistant superintendent of printing, said the Iroquois League, of which he is a director, would be dissolved.

Pledge cards distributed by the Illinoisans to employees of code departments under Governor Horner ask that they "voluntarily agree to donate" an unspecified sum in monthly installments for one year.

Donoghue said the new association would "tend to equalize campaign contributions," and eliminate wide variation in assessments of state employees made by county Democratic organizations since the Iroquois League became inactive in February, 1937.

Directors of the Iroquois League included F. Lynden Smith, Democratic campaign manager, and Sam L. Nudelman, state director of finance. Officers of the new association haven't been named, it was announced.

Coroner's Jury in Ottawa Held Radium Poison Death Cause

Ottawa, Ill., July 29—(AP)—After hearing testimony by physicians, a coroner's jury last night decided Mrs. Catherine Wolfe Donoghue, 35, principal figure in a compensation case against the Radium Dial Company, died Wednesday of "radium poisoning."

The jury, called after Mrs. Donoghue's physician refused to sign the death certificate, said death was due to "radium poisoning absorbed into her system while she was employed in an industrial plant in Ottawa, namely the Radium Dial Company."

The verdict was hailed by Leonard J. Grossman, Mrs. Donoghue's attorney, as confirming a ruling by the Illinois Industrial Commission awarding her $7,000 compensation.

Mrs. Donoghue, mother of two children, was one of 14 former employees who filed compensation claims with the commission.

Dear Diary—

What a Summer this has been! Our family has never had so much fun. Picnics, and beach-parties, and trips, of course. But for the first time we've really enjoyed our home. Dad and Mother have done wonders. A new porch swing and gay cretonne covers for the furniture. A croquet set for the garden, shuffleboard in the garage. My room done over—I helped with that! A sand-pile and gym corner for Bobby. Mother is mildly amazed that all this cost so little. Dad takes credi for that—he's a rabid ad-reader, and when the time came knew just what and where he could buy advantageously.

Of course, I've always been thataway too! When one has such a small allowance one soon learns to do preliminary shopping in the newspaper advertisements. And I know it was that darling blue evening frock I bought "as advertised" that brought Midshipman Duncan to his knees!

What a glorious Summer . . . thanks to our favorite newspaper and its ads!

Crawford Summer Home is Setting for Gay Party for Visitors

The week's gayest party was in full swing last evening at the attractive summer home of the Joseph Crawford on rural route 4, with the Misses Norma Crawford and Jeanne Hart entertaining nearly 40 friends at a dancing party in compliment to Miss Jeanne Barker of Milwaukee, Wis. Miss Barker, whose yearly vacation visit at the Crawford home is proving all too short for the many party plans which always attend her arrival in Dixon, will be returning home within another week.

Dancing on the open porch, where nickelodeon music furnished inspiration for gliding feet, was only part of the evening's entertainment, as both the table tennis table and croquet court were lighted throughout the evening. There were also contests and the fortunate ones, Arnold Swan and Robert Coakley, were presented with season tickets at the Crawford home as a reward for their efforts.

A buffet supper was a pleasant interruption of the evening's fun at 10:30 o'clock.

Composing this teen-age guest list were the Misses Betty Allen, Jeanne Barker, Charlotte Beede, Lois Bennett, Rita Bennett, Barbara Campbell, Caryl Crawford, Elinor Dodd, Alice Meyers, Susanne Murphy of Chicago, Jeanne Nettz, Betty Sheller, Dorothy Stitzel, Jayne Tofte and Wanda Walter. Robert Hofmann, Lloyd Miller, Kenneth Abbott, Ted Legner, Clarence Wilson, Robert Coakley, John Moore, Dudley Hubbard, Robert Mosholder, Leo Lewis, Robt. Dowling, Arnold Swan, Martin Tammann, Floyd Smith, William McGinnis, Dean McCrystal, John Bennett, Gerald Ankeny, and the hostesses.

On Sunday evening, Mrs. Thad Beck of Polo will be entertaining at supper for Miss Crawford and her guest, who, together with Miss Hart, have made plans to register at Stephens Women's college in Columbia, Mo., in the fall. Miss Barker will be a senior at Stephens, as she attended Milwaukee State Teachers college last year.

4-H Clothing Club Girls of Lee County Compete for Honors in Dress Revue

Forty-eight ambitious young Lee county girls demonstrated what they have accomplished with needle and thimble during this season's study of 4-H clothing projects in an entertaining dress revue yesterday afternoon that caused a pleased murmur to ripple over the auditorium of the Amboy Township high school. Approximately 130 guests were present for the show, presented under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Colean, home adviser.

Miss Virginia May Ulch of Compton bestirred the audience into admiration as "No. 1" model in the sport and school dress division, winning the title with a simple frock of yellow print. Beier will award for the best showing during the month for 54 holes against bogey. Two and four-ball mixed foursomes, an inter-city match at Oregon next Wednesday, and tournaments here with Mt. ## Milwaukee Unions to Let Circus Show

Milwaukee, July 29.—(AP)—It was circus day in Milwaukee today, and both A. F. L. and C. I. O. labor unions made early disclaimers of any intention to picket the visiting Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto units of the Ringling organization.

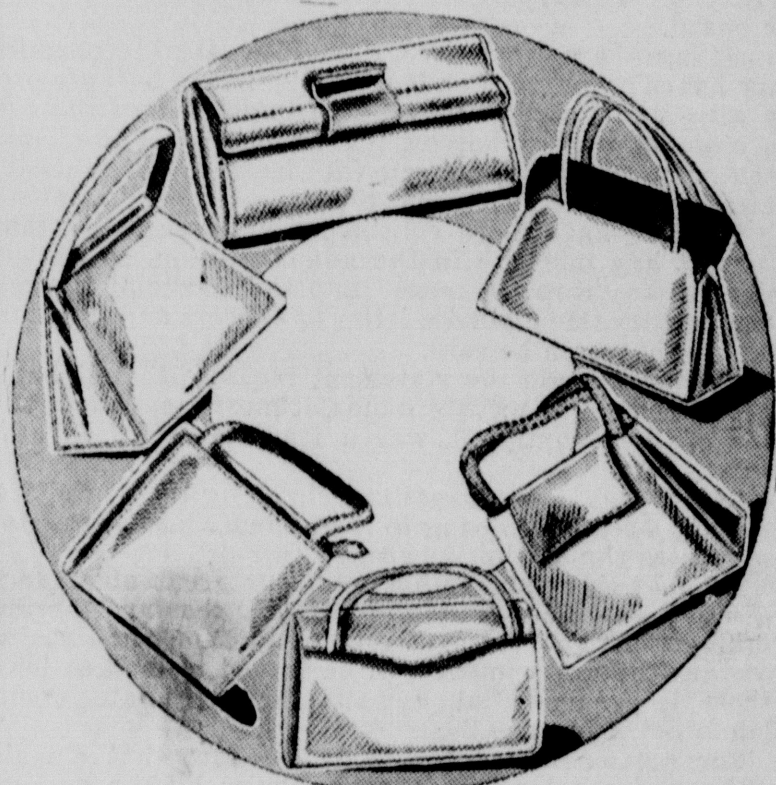

The circus had cancelled its scheduled appearance at Racine today, after announcement by the Racine Trades & Labor Council (A. F. L.) It would picket the grounds. The date was switched to Milwaukee, where the circus already had been booked for tomorrow and Sunday.

Acts formerly with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus, before it cancelled its summer program because an A. F. L. union declined a 25 per cent wage cut, are with the units now touring Wisconsin. The circus was picketed July 19 at Janesville, where a man was injured when keepers drove two elephants into the crowd of pickets and spectators.

SERVING TWO MASTERS

Jesse H. Jones of Texas finds some difficulty in serving two masters.

One is a political master in the White House. The other is that unbending master, the law of economics, the interest of depositors in the National Bank of Commerce of Houston, Texas, of which Jesse H. Jones is chairman of the board.

Things have gone wrong in New Deal economics. They haven't worked. Funds lie idle in banks because people with credit acceptable to the comptroller of the currency do not want to borrow them and because the banks do not want to loan to persons with lesser credit. Industry is awaiting a more convenient time.

Bankers have more confidence in Jesse Jones than in almost any one else in the administration, so he was sent forth to "throw a scare" into the financial markets of the country. He mailed a letter to officers and directors of banks, in which he said:

"When I made the statement recently that if banking is to remain in private hands, it must meet the credit needs of the country, it was a frank observation of a general trend.

"Many banks have realized changing credit requirements and are endeavoring to meet them, but entirely too many are on the sidelines waiting.

"You bankers know that with our great abundance of banking resources it should not be necessary for the government to lend to private industry. You should also know that the government will be forced to lend so long as there is a substantial demand for legitimate credit which is not being met."

For a moment we lay aside the fact that a main damper on bank loans was manipulated by the government's own bank examiners, who lay down the rules to be observed. We lay aside the fact that in order to pretend to be opening the damper, the comptroller of the currency recently enunciated some revisions of the rules, which bankers say did little or nothing of importance in changing the situation. We lay these aside to take a look at Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the board of the National Bank of Commerce of Houston, and what he has done to stimulate business for the New Deal, showing confidence in the future of investors and investments.

Howard Wood, financial writer for the Chicago Tribune, has been looking over the official statements of the Jones bank, and he reports as follows:

"A comparison of the Houston bank's statement of condition on June 30, 1938, with its statement on Dec. 31, 1937, shows that despite an increase in deposits during the last six months, its total loans and discounts have actually been reduced more than 2 million dollars.

"Instead of lending more money to business men and farmers or investing more money in bonds, the Jones bank has increased its cash from 20 millions to 23 millions during the last six months."

It is noted further that the competing bank in Houston increased its loans while the Jones bank was decreasing.

Another man just saying one thing and doing something else, starting for Los Angeles and landing in Ireland.

LEARN TO KEEP YOUR FEET

Safety councils all over the country have done almost spectacular work in stemming the tide of traffic deaths and injuries, principally by pressing aggressive programs of education among motorists and school children.

But now it turns out that there's a "forgotten man" in the traffic campaign, according to one of the Safety Council's publications. He's the man on foot, the adult pedestrian, and his case has been sadly neglected. A move to establish advisory clinics for his benefit is now afoot. Wichita, Kan., already operates one.

That a need exists for some such clinics appears from the traffic figures of 13 large cities. Pedestrian deaths, the figures disclose, compose 75 per cent of the total accident fatalities in those communities.

In the meantime, any pedestrian with an ounce of sense can increase his life expectancy by himself, simply by remembering such simple rules as: Don't cross intersections diagonally; don't try to beat the crossing light to the draw at the last minute; don't trust to the driver's consideration; don't try to look at two pretty girls at the same time from the middle of the street.

THE SCENERY PROSPECTS

One of the best services a newspaper can render its readers in such parlous times as these is to keep calling attention to such things as are worth looking forward to, as they swim into human ken.

And so, gentlemen, your attention is directed today to the feminine figure. Word comes from an unimpeachable source that the outlook for the fall is the best in many seasons.

You may not know it, but the shape a lady's in a round Thanksgiving has been foreordained at least as early as the 4th of July. And you may not know this, but "Fall Corset Week" has just been observed in New York. Buyers for department stores were given a preview of the Fall, 1938 Woman, and this is what they discovered:

BARBER DID MUCH FOR BUSINESS IN EARLY ROCHELLE

Story of First Business Section Recounted in Continued Series

CHAPTER VI

Besides his early store at Rochelle, Jerry Barber was connected with several other branches of trade. He dealt in coal and had a small stock of furniture, and, in company with Hotelling, was one of the first grain buyers. Before going in with the "Major", however, he had erected a little warehouse, in company with a Mr. Flint, and was in the grain business the next season after the advent of the railroad.

The personal history of Jerry Barber is closely interwoven with that of Rochelle in those early years. To his liberality and enterprise is credited much of the city's subsequent prosperity and growth. No man in the commercial history of the town ever enjoyed the confidence of the trading public more than he. Early in trade, his genial manner and well-known integrity commanded an immense patronage. Had his conscience possessed the elasticity of many modern salesmen, he would have emulated a princely fortune, and instead of resting in a grave long unmarked by the simplest tablet he might have reposed beneath the shadow of an imposing monument.

Met Financial Disaster

As it was, he met with financial disaster, failed in business, and the last years of his life were spent in comparative poverty. He died in 1872 and was laid to rest with Masonic honors. Before coming to Rochelle, Barber was conducting a farm in Winnebago county near the residence of Allen Miller who was Mrs. Barber's father. Here Jerry had led a quiet farmer's life for many years, being one of the oldest settlers in that section. He came to Rochelle, and for a while was successful beyond all reasonable expectation in accumulating wealth and multiplying friends; and the two seemed to disappear together, fully as readily as they came.

Though Barber and Hotelling built the "corner brick", it was first occupied by the Cass Brothers, Frank and Milo. They engaged in the general trade, dry goods, groceries, etc., and were succeeded by Barbour & Co. Barbour was unsuccessful, and Sheriff Hughes finally secured possession and disposed of the goods at auction, for the benefit of eastern creditors. The Brownell boys, Lawrence and Will, opened a stock in the "corner brick" at about the beginning of the war. Possessing first class business ability and any amount of enterprise, they built up a tremendous business at the old corner. This firm, with slight variations continued to do business at there until 1871 when they sold to Bushey, Rathbun & Francis.

Stranger Building

The old brown building which was constructed opposite the "corner brick" was erected in the summer of 1854, by some stranger. It was soon afterward by R. W. Porter and Joseph Storm and by them removed to its familiar old location up town. Porter & Storm filled it with a stock of dry goods, groceries, etc. Storm didn't remain in the firm long, but it was continued by Porter for some years. On Porter's leaving, Gerrett H. Pierce, D. Bly and others held forth there at different times. The stock, toward the last, was principally drugs with a few groceries. With a number of other old buildings it was cleared away some years later by Mr. Shockley, to make room for a brick block with four stores.

Old Grove House

The old Grove House, consisting of two long frame buildings side by side, situated opposite the store warehouse on the east side of the street, was built by Thomas Reed of Lynville in the summer of 1854. It was run as a hotel for a few years, but, after remaining vacant a long time, was torn down by Rufus P. Burlingame, who erected an old half-finished grain warehouse. This, in turn, was removed and the lively table of H. Earl erected.

Below the track during the first season after the railroad was built, a man by the name of Leach conducted a pioneer whisky shop in the Bowler shanties. One of these shanties, with a car roof, stood for a long time as a landmark.

The first lively stable was opened by John Andrews in 1854. John Hunter occupied the old stable opposite the Rochelle House in 1858, and was succeeded by Josiah M. May. Then Charles Welch, who sold to Edward Gardner; he, in turn, was followed by H. Earl.

More building continued in these early days and pointed to the present business district of today. Further historical records of these activities will be unfolded in another chapter of this series.

Giraffes, when fighting among themselves, use their long necks like sledge hammers.

The trend to the youthful, but far from boyish figure is more than holding its own. For instance, things will definitely veer in here, and out there, but not too much. Nothing abrupt, but at the same time nothing overly subtle. Improved structural engineering techniques have entered what the trade calls the larger group. And the larger group is expected to do a good deal of buying this season.

Things, gentlemen, seem to be shaping around ok.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with

Albert Edward Wiggam, S. Se. Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea," (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. The studies of C. B. Davenport, biologist, indicate that the "gypsy tendency" to wander without any special motive is a "sex-linked" trait. That means it is handed down by the women but shown only by the men. Baldness is such a trait. When the late Clarence Darrow and I debated Heredity vs. Environment over the country, he wanted to visit the wandering branch of the "Jukes Family." We went to where they had been living a month previous but they had moved! Then to their new abode but they had moved again and to a third place but they had moved from there just the day before! Mr. Darrow said, "Well, Wiggam, maybe there is a little something to heredity." I agree.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. Prof. S. J. Holmes, biologist of the U. of Cal., had competent judges rate 600 juniors, seniors and post graduate university girls as follows: "Beautiful"; "Good Looking"; "Plain"; "Homely". Beauty of face was the main consideration but hair, figure and general appearance were taken into account. For reasons I shall discuss on another day the freshmen and sophomore were not included. The results showed a steady decrease in the number rated as beautiful and good looking the longer they stayed in college. Later we shall discuss why.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. "Public schools not only can but must adjust themselves to meet the occupational demands of their communities." This was the emphatic pronouncement of the last National Occupational Conference. The answer to this question is, yes. I think that, increasingly, it will be a duty of public schools to fit pupils into jobs suitable for their attainments.

Manhattan Shaken by an Earth Shock

New York July 29.—(AP)—An earthquake described by observers at Fordham University as "a sharp surface shock" sent a shiver through upper Manhattan, the Bronx, parts of Westchester county and the Palisades section of New Jersey early today.

No damage was reported. Most of the persons who deluged police and fire stations with telephone calls said the quake awoke them from sleep and some reported their homes shook.

The Rev. Fr. Joseph Lynch of the Fordham observatory said the school's seismograph recorded the shock at 1:44:15 A. M. C.S.T. He placed the center of the disturbance as "five to 25 miles from the university."

He said the shock was "a little bit stronger" than would be usual for this section but "it was nothing to worry about."

TIDE WAS LATE

Philadelphia, July 29.—(AP)—Time and tide wait for no man—but 4,000 persons waited 40 minutes for the tide yesterday so the navy's new destroyer, the Rhind, could be launched. High tide came later than the navy department had estimated.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

An important executive of a large business concern had on his desk a four-inch square block which had sixteen one-inch push buttons on it. These buttons were used to summon various members of the organization such as assistants, clerks, secretary, stenographers, etc. After a particularly bad year of business this executive let out a large percentage of the members of the organization. Following this move he decided that he no longer needed so many push buttons so he had the one-inch buttons removed and two-inch buttons installed. Of course these buttons were all round. After the change from one-inch to two-inch buttons would there be more or less space left around the buttons?

June Business in Chicago Worst of Any Month in 1938

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—An Association of Commerce survey released today said Chicago business in June was the worst for any month this year compared with corresponding months in 1937.

All business indices showed marked recessions except the number of telephones in use, stock exchange transactions, electric power production and live stock slaughtered, the survey said.

Airplane passenger travel, which had held up or gone ahead of comparative months last year, fell off in June and so did Chicago postal receipts, it said. Pig iron production was down 70 per cent, real estate sales and construction were curtailed sharply, car-loadings were off about 30 per cent and the Chicago Surface Lines (street cars) carried 5,000,000 fewer passengers than in June, 1937, the survey showed.

It added that department store sales were off 14 points and factory payrolls reduced about one-third.

SISTERS REUNITED

Belvidere, Ill.—(AP)—Mrs. Craig Hayes of Valer, Mont., arrived for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Zene Smith, whom she had not seen in 46 years.

WASHINGTON—Unnoticed, but extremely significant is the fact that while the President is away one of three men always is in Washington. The three are:

Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior and PW Administrator.
Harry Hopkins, WPA Administrator.

Tom Corcoran, the most effective Brain Trustee who ever came to the Capital.

These three have become the President's closest advisers. They are the three whom he can always depend upon, whose views are almost identical with his, and who carry out his orders on vital policies while he is away.

One of them is always on tap in the summer. Hopkins has been away on vacation, and with his return this week, Ickes is going to Alaska. Corcoran gets away on occasional week ends. But one is always on deck, available to handle the President's most delicate and difficult policy-execution.

Insurance Probe
Not many people realize it, but one of the most important phases of the present monopoly investigation is going to be the insurance companies. Furthermore, it will affect more people than any other part of the investigation.

What the investigators are looking into is the fact that the insurance companies now rival the federal government in the amount of money they have to invest and the amount they tax the public.

Today insurance has come to be the equivalent of a tax. In fact, probably more people pay tribute to the insurance companies than pay taxes.

What the investigators are probing, therefore, is the fact that although some 40,000,000 voters can elect those who fix the taxes and spend the money, only a handful of about 2,000 people elect the directors who control the huge insurance funds.

This is partly because most holders of mutual policies do not know that they have the right to vote for their directors. Holders of policies in non-mutual companies do not have the right to vote.

The monopoly probers also point out that the power of this little group of directors is tremendous. They can materially influence the life of the nation. They have put their policy holders' money heavily into railroads, which is one reason why the government hesitates to let the railroads go through the wringer.

On the other hand they have not put their money—until very recently—into housing, with the result that housing has lagged far behind despite the recent millions poured in by the Government.

Note—The insurance companies now have total assets of about twenty-five billions, which puts them second only to the federal government in spending power. Seventy-five per cent of these assets is controlled by only eighteen companies.

The total new investment of all insurance companies is about $800,000,000 annually. This is all new money. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company sometimes has to invest as much as $1,000,000 a day.

Investment Cream
Another important point which the monopoly probers are examining is the channelization of investments. In other words, so much money has gone into insurance in recent years, that money is taken away from the more venturesome investment field. This tends to curb the normal industrial expansion of the nation and is one reason for government spending programs.

Also to be probed are: Commissions paid to insurance agents, interest rates charged on loans (which continue higher than current rate), and insurance actuarial tables which are about fifty years old, although the longevity of life has increased eleven years in the last half century.

In other words, the investigation shows insurance companies still charging on the basis of the death rate fifty years ago, before modern medicine and public health had added eleven years to the life of the average citizen.

Note—The insurance investigation is in charge of Tom Blaisdell, of the SEC, who will be the No. 1 Bogey Man of the insurance field before the investigation is over.

Air Commissioner
When Robert H. Hinckley, recently appointed by the President to the Civil Aeronautics Authority was in eighth grade in Provo, Utah, he retorted to a scolding by the teacher with an ingenious alibi:

DON'T BE SHOT ACCIDENTALLY—WEAR A SOMBRERO

Mexico, D. F.—(AP)—The Mexican sombrero is an institution here, but it may be a joke as well. If cartoonists desire to make a man look ridiculous, they put a big sombrero on him.

Yet the sombrero, or hat, may sometimes cost as much as $500. Some are made of finest felt, adorned with gold, silver and precious stones. The big hat has practical advantages since it provides plenty of protection from the sun, spares the eyes from glare, and prevents hunting accidents.

In the United States a hunter might mistake a moving object in the woods for a deer, but the Mexican sombrero never has been taken for anything—but a sombrero.

Shortly after that he was elected the first Democratic mayor of Ogden, Utah.

Hinckley organized the first airplane company in Utah, in association with Dean Brimhall, WPA Assistant Administrator of W. The partners operated seven planes, taught student pilots, and provided air taxi service within the State.

Hinckley never became a pilot, but he seldom stays on the ground. He has been flying all over the west as regional WPA director for eleven states. Last year United Airlines awarded him a trophy as Utah's most air-traveled citizen.

Meantime, Mrs. Hinckley—first name, Abrelia—conducts the automobile business which Hinckley started in Utah. She likes the work, but doesn't like her name. When Amos and Andy offered a prize for the best name for Amos's daughter, she sent in her own.

She won a prize of twenty-five dollars.

BOSTON RED SOX HOLD TO PLACE IN MONEY CLASS

Easterners Defeat the White Sox in Twin Bill Yesterday

BY SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

For years one of baseball's universal beliefs—like three strikes are out—or putting mustard on your hot dogs—has been that a club entertaining hopes of figuring in the money must have strength "down the middle."

Such being the case, it has become increasingly amazing, now that Lefty Grove's wing is laid up for repairs, how those Boston Red Sox continue to hang right onto the Yankees and Indians in the American League pennant party.

When this season got under way, few thought the Sox had much of a chance. The "experts" refused to see moneybags Yawkey's boys because of that middle line. But since that time, the Sox have won seven and lost three, the latest a doubleheader beating they handed the Chicago White Sox yesterday, 13-8 and 8-5.

Now, that "middle line" runs from the catcher out to where the center fielder waits for fly balls. Back of the mask and pads, the Sox had Gene DeSauteles, who is strictly no bargain. On paper, the pitching staff, aside from Old Mose, was largely a collection of young unknowns. In center field, Doc Cramer didn't figure to be any world beater, but he has been a most pleasant surprise, batting .315 for the season and .341 in the last ten-game stretch since Lefty's been gone.

Where Things Popped

But it has been at second base and on the mound where things have been popping. Manager Joe Cronin decided to string along with young Bobby Doerr at second last year, despite all kinds of criticism. And the kid finally has come through. For the past month or so he has been traveling at a 400 clip, and for the final ten-game run since the Sox were counted out (by expert opinion) he's been going at 368 and fielding .4-1.

On top of that, the rookie pitchers have been fooling everyone, for which give a large assist to old Herb Pennock, the one-time ace of the World Champion Yankees, who's taken youngsters like Jim Bagby, Emerson Dickman and Dick Midkiff in hand and taught them the tricks. The result is, Bagby and Dickman, between 'em have won 13 games and lost but seven. Dickman sports a five-game winning streak.

Of course, it's always nice to have fellows like Fox and the speedy Ben Chapman around. Fox belted homer No. 28 in yesterday's opener and Chapman drove in four runs, the Sox winning with a five-run blast in the tenth. In the nightcap, Midkiff, tossed in when the White Sox got tough in the fifth, pitched one-hit shutout ball the rest of the way.

Two Games Behind Tribe

This left the Sox only two games back of the Indians, whose game with the Athletics was rained out, and only three back of the pace-setting Yankees, who dropped a 4-3 decision to the St. Louis Browns despite three homers. The Tigers belted the Washington Senators, 12-4.

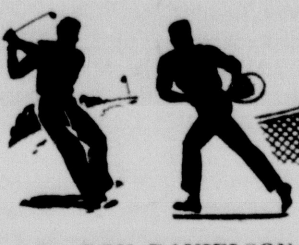

The Giants ended their five game losing streak by nipping the St. Louis Cardinals, 2-1, and, naturally, it was King Carl Hubbell who did it with a seven-hit pitching job for his 12th win. Linus Frey's three-run double gave the Cincinnati Reds a 4-2 victory over the Phillies, 9-2. The Dodgers and Cubs weren't scheduled.

HOME LUMBER IS WINNER AT GAME AT THE AIRPORT

Telegraph Takes One on Chin From The Kellers Team

The Reynolds Wire and Screen softball club which wasn't out to take any back talk in the game with the league-leading California Market on Wednesday night had a bitter pill thrust down their throat last night when the Home Lumber boys walked all over them—and more than that, turned their heels.

With one exception the Reynolds lineup was the same as that used in holding the Marketers to a 1-0 victory, but you would never have known it last night when they managed to get only one run while the lumber men were running bases freely to pick up 19 tags at the plate. The boys in orange and black meant business and were not to be stopped by any amount of pitchers. Ten runs were collected while Flash Fordham presided on the mound and, to show they weren't frightened when Rube Winebrenner came in to pitch in the fourth, the lads took 9 more runs to put the game in the ice box.

Error Brings Run

In the first inning for Reynolds with Nicklaus out, E. Grove beat out a single to left field but went down on a double play from second baseman to first. In the next inning the club scored its only run when, with two away, Becker made first sack on an error by shortstop and collected on an error by the second baseman.

Hits were chalked up in each of the remaining innings but nothing came of them due to some lively infield work on the part of Home Lumber.

Swain and McGraham scored two runs for the lumberjacks in the second inning both on errors by first basemen. Not content to get their meat that way, they tagged for three more in the next inning. One was a home run by Bob Evans with Emmert on base. Six more counters were stacked to the pile of chips when six runs were scored in the last of the fourth. Rube Winebrenner came in to replace Flash after five runs had rained in.

The racers took a breather in the eighth chapter with no hits and no runs, but sighted for the targets again in the last inning when 8 scored when 12 faced the pitcher.

There wasn't a man on the Home Lumber team who didn't score a run last night and several got as many as three.

Five hits were taken off the pitching of Fordham and seven from Manager Rube Winebrenner, while the losers only landed six hits off the elbowing of Bevilacqua, "the kid from Nelson."

Telegraph Falls Down

In the nightcap taffy-pull the candy broke and the Telegraph sat down on a prickling 7-2 defeat by Kellers.

Things were looking up for the newsmen in the first inning when Carlson came in after Anderson had popped out to the leftfielder. Wickler got a hit but Hunt made the three-way without leaving the plate.

The grocery boys took their first score in the last of the second when, with no one on and two down, Pitcher Carlson did a non-stop tour of the corners. Two runs scored in the next inning on a triple by Neuhansen. E. Miller scored in the fifth along with B. Holderman and the score mounted to 5 to 2. The Telegraph had picked up its other run in the first of the fifth on an error in center-field.

Pitcher Carlson, shaking his head because no one had been on base when it hit the home run, soaked out another in the last of the sixth with Wadsworth at second and brought the total to 7 runs. It was three-up-and-three-down for the Telegraph after that and the lid was clamped down on the ball game and the lights put out.

Foster, pitching for the newsmen, gave off nine hits and one walk, while Home-Run-Hitter Carlson permitted only 4 hits and one free trip.

Tonight the Medusa and I. N. U. teams open the show, with Black Farms and Dixon Fruit company scheduled for the second act.

On the Side

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

BY EDDIE BRIEFZ

New York, July 29—(AP)—Ambers and Armstrong may lay one of those great big eggs from a financial standpoint. In the four night games at Ebbets Field so far the well-known Dodgers have pulled in 117,369 fans and got the club out of the red. Business is off 50 per cent at Tony Galento's joint since Tony has been laid up and can't get around to bellow greetings to the customers.

Charlie Grimm probably will have another big league connection next summer. They'll bet you John Henry Lewis doesn't get to first base in his proposed suit against the New York Athletic Commission—which is to say it'll never reach the courts. After all, the commission merely told John he'd have to come in and fight a guy, or else—and John Henry rode the else. The Yanks are finding out Rookie pitcher Steve Sundra can hit something besides egg omelets—same being a horse-hug. Young Bobby Riggs has unsheathed his racquets in no less than 18 tournaments this year already.

Dan Daniel, who usually has the straight dope in his World-Telegram column, says the Yanks once turned down Gabby Hartnett for $2,500, because he "couldn't hit." How? Well, Dutch Clark of the Detroit Lions will be starting his 15th season as a football player when his team begins practice this year. And for the first time in 15 years the New York Giants will play all their games in the east. Did you see where Jack Beckett, pro at the Youngtakah club near Nutley, N. J., came up with his first ace the other day? He was 35 years of golfing? Must have been the greatest day of his life.

Lots of folk think Henry Armstrong has lost the boxing urge and will have to be made to fight from now on. Anyway, he's been so low at Pompton Lakes Manager Eddie Mead has ordered him on the road. Some of the New York papers are blasting the boxing commission for refusing to recognize young Al Hostak. After all, they argue, it wasn't the kid's fault Steele got in bad by running out of a challenge from Apostoli.

Somerville Enters Golfing Semifinals

London, Ont., July 29—The slim, wiry figure of C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville stood in the way of another United States victory in the Canadian Amateur Golf championship today as the 36-year old Londoner and three young American golfers entered the 36-hole semi-final round.

Somerville six-time winner of the title and playing over his home course, faces the toughest of the invading trio, Ven Savage of Magna, Utah, the trans-Mississippi champion, in one semi-final match.

In the other, Ed Kingsley, fellow townsman of Savage and runner-up to him in the trans-Mississippi, meets 21 year old Ted Adams, of Columbia, Mo., who is making his first appearance in a major tournament semi-final.

FAMOUS SPORTS FOLLOWER DIED LAST EVENING

Chicago, July 29—(AP)—Bert E. Collier, 61, nationally known horse race handicapper and publisher of "Collier's Eye," a sports and turf information paper, died last night. Born in Durham, Ont., Collier ran a print shop in his youth before going to Alaska during the Gold Rush of '98. It was there he gained recognition as a newspaperman for his exclusive dispatch on the Chilkoot Pass avalanche, April 4, 1898. Sixty persons were killed at the pass and many injured.

Employed by Hearst newspapers on the Pacific coast, he subsequently was transferred to the Chicago American and named turf editor. In 1914, he established his publication, which, he claimed, was the first to disclose the Chicago Black Sox baseball scandal in 1920.

In addition to winning recognition as a gentleman rider, Collier had owned many horses, both jumpers and flat runners. He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances L. Collier; a brother, Lally Collier of Covington, Ky.; and two sisters, Mrs. Eve Elz of Burlington, Ontario, and Mrs. Mildred Hendy of Guelph, Ontario. Burial will be in Guelph.

Members of his publishing firm said the paper and the syndicated handicap column Collier conducted would be continued.

Last Year's Three-Eye Winners Show They Have Power

Chicago, July 29—(AP)—The Moline Plovers, who won the Three-Eye league pennant last year, still have some of that power left.

After losing the opening game of their series to Waterloo in a free-throwing contest, the Plovers came back last night to play baseball and run. They did their running around the bases as they scored 20 times on their 23 hits to smother the Red Hawks, 20 to 7. The biggest assault on three Hawk pitchers came in the seventh inning when Moline scored 12 times.

In another hit-showered game, Cedar Rapids beat Clinton, 10 to 8. Although defeated, the Owls hammered out 17 safeties to the 14 Red Raiders manufactured. Springfield's big sixth inning, in which it scored four runs, was not good enough to beat Bloomington for the Bloomers rallied to score twice in the eighth and won, 6 to 4.

FACE STRENUOUS TASK OF SAVING DAVIS CUP HOPES

Montreal, July 29—(AP)—Laird Watt, of Montreal, and Ross Wilson, of Toronto, faced the strenuous task of turning back the veteran Japanese pair of Jiro Yamagishi and Fumiteru Nakano in the doubles today and saving Canada's Davis Cup hopes.

The same Japanese pair, playing in singles yesterday, trounced Bobby Murray and Wilson in straight sets to send the invaders into a 2-0 lead in the five point series. Today's doubles count only one point, but it is the deciding one of the tourney. Should the Canadians win today they have a slim chance of winning the two remaining singles Saturday and taking the series.

Most onlookers were ready to concede victory to the tireless Japanese. The winning team here will meet the winner of the Australia-Mexico series, which starts in Kansas City today, in the American Zone final.

Pitcher Ken Jungles Recalled by Indians

Milwaukee, July 29—(AP)—Allan Sothern, manager of the Milwaukee Brewers, said yesterday that Ken Jungles, right-handed pitcher, had been recalled by the Cleveland Indians, who are sending Bill Zuber to the Milwaukee club in exchange. Zuber was with the Milwaukee club in 1937.

Zuber, also a right-hander, lost three games and won none as Cleveland relief hurler. He won 15 games for the Brewers last year. Jungles lost seven and won seven with Milwaukee this season.

YOUNG KOVACS FACES CLIMAX IN NET CAREER

Sea Bright, N. J., July 28—(AP)—Frank Kovacs, 18-year-old Californian who came east "just for the experience," faced the first climax of his tennis career today in semi-finals of the 51st annual Sea Bright Lawn Tennis & Cricket Club Invitation tournament.

Kovacs was pitted against top-seeded Bobby Riggs of Chicago, who has high hopes of landing the No. 2 singles assignment on the Davis Cup team.

Riggs was the logical favorite but on the basis of his performance against third-seeded Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta, yesterday, Kovacs was conceded a chance of casting a damper on Riggs' cup aspirations.

Kovacs whipped Grant, fourth-ranked U. S. amateur, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

Riggs, poised and confident as usual, was almost perfunctory in his test with Robert L. Harman, of Oakland, Calif., in yesterday's quarter-finals.

He spent most of the first set watching a match on an adjacent court, and lost 6-1. When Harman gained a 2-0 lead in the second set, however, Riggs turned to the business at hand, winning the second set, 6-3, and the third, 6-2.

In the other semi-final today, Wilmer L. Allison, of Austin, Texas, was slated to meet Elwood T. Cooke, of Portland, Ore., upset conqueror of second-seeded Frankie Parker in the quarter-finals.

In the women's singles, semi-final matches today pitted Alice Marble, the defending champion, against Virginia Wolfenden, of San Francisco, and buxom Dorothy May Bundy, of Santa Monica, Calif., against Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Faoyan, of Brookline, Mass.

GOLFING BEST TEE OFF FOR ST. PAUL OPEN

St. Paul, July 29—(AP)—The cream of the nation's golfers started a 72 hole medal test today over the Keller course for the $7,500 prize money in the annual St. Paul open.

Included in the field of more than 200 golfers are most of the nation's leading professionals, among them defending champion Sammy Snead of West Virginia who has collected $8,612 in tournaments so far this year.

Rating as a big favorite along with Snead is Harry Cooper of Chicago, Mass., who has won the St. Paul event three times.

A majority of the more prominent players were late starters in the 18 hole round to be played today, among them Ky. Laifson, Tony Manero, Gene Sarazen, Johnny Revolta, Lawson Little, Dick Metz, Horton Smith, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour and Jim Foulis.

Eighteen additional holes will be played Saturday, to be followed by 36 on Sunday for the low 64 players and ties in the previous two days of competition.

Toledo Mud Hens Set Fast Stride

Toledo, O., July 29—(AP)—If those Toledo Mud Hens keep up the pace they started in Louisville, their home stay would boost them into a position to do battle with Milwaukee for fourth place in the American Association.

The Hens made it a grand slam over the Colonels in a four game finale last night, 6 to 5.

The victory, coupled with Milwaukee's split of a doubleheader with Minneapolis moved the Hens to within two games of the Brewers.

The Hens scored three times in the eleventh inning to break up a 3 to 3 deadlock that had lasted since both clubs tallied thrice in the fifth inning. But the Colonels came back strong and scored twice before they were checked.

The Millers loosed a 13 hit attack in the first game of their twin bill with Milwaukee and won 12 to 7, with Ted Williams slamming home run Number 30. But in the seven inning nightcap, the Brewers bunched their nine hits for a 4 to 2 victory.

Kansas City beat St. Paul 9 to 8 in 13 innings and moved up on the second place Indianapolis Indians who lost to Columbus, 6 to 4. The Blues were only half a game behind the Indians today.

Today's schedule: Louisville at Toledo, Indianapolis at Columbus, Milwaukee at St. Paul and Kansas City at Minneapolis.

Most Eskimos do not swim, although they spend most of their lives near water.

HEIRESS BARBARA AND COUNT REACH FINAL AGREEMENT

Nobleman Is Granted "Parental Rights" Toward Son

London, July 29—(AP)—Attorneys for the former Barbara Hut-ton, five-and-ten heiress, and her estranged husband, Count Court Haugwitz - Reventlow, announced today the couple had reached an agreement for a separation.

The count was granted "parental rights" toward Lance, their two-year-old son. They entitle him to make certain final decisions affect-ing his son's education, religion and career.

The deed of separation already has been signed both by the count and countess. It is subject to ap-proval by the Danish minister of justice but would be valid both un-der Danish and English law.

Count Court is Danish and the countess has adopted her hus-band's nationality.

Thus the Woolworth heiress and the spruce, dignified Danish nobel-man she married in Reno, Nev., May 14, 1935, came to the parting of their ways.

GLACIER PRIEST TELLS OF CROSS-ING BERING SEA

Says Party Would Have Perished in a More Modern Craft

Barrow, Alaska, July 29—(AP)—Father Bernard Hubbard, Alaska's "glacier priest," sailed 700 miles in a primitive 40-foot skin canoe through Bering sea and the Arctic ocean without encountering a single iceberg.

But, Father Hubbard said today, he and his party of eight men en-counter such stormy weather on their 20-day voyage that they never would have survived if they had been in a more modern craft.

He recalled that 35 up-to-date ships had been wrecked on the haz-ardous shoals of Seahorse island, which lies along the route the glacier priest traveled from lonely King Island to his northernmost settlement of Alaska.

"After leaving Wainwright we skirted Seahorse island, where many a whaler was wrecked in past years," Father Hubbard said. "A new shoal forming out farther in the ocean from the island kicked up dangerous breakers and a sud-den adverse wind buffeted the Oomkak (native name for their craft) on the shoal."

"We were afraid the keel would break and the walrus skin hull would be ripped. So we put an extra 22-horsepower outboard mo-tor in the stern, and with the two motors chugging, the oomkak and its four tons of cargo were steered to safety."

Hubbard's oomkak was designed after the type of boats he be-lieves Asiatics used to cross from Siberia to Alaska. The only modern touch was the two outboard mo-tors in place of paddles.

Father Hubbard is sailing along the northern rim of Alaska as far as Canada to trace the linguistic similarities of the Eskimos in sup-port of the theory American In-dians and Eskimos migrated from Asia.

Trip in Balloon

Aviator's Outing

Buffalo, N. Y., July 29—(AP)—A tanned young engineer who helps build some of the world's fastest airplanes prepared today to start his vacation in a balloon.

If the weather is favorable this evening a much-patched gas bag will soar aloft with Anthony Fairbanks as pilot and several mem-bers of a balloon club as passen-gers.

It will be the second trip of the year for the Buffalo Balloon Club, which claims it is the only remain-ing private balloon society in the United States.

Tonight's ascent will be made in an 80,000 cubic foot bag owned by the charter members of the club: Fairbanks, George Hine-man, John Copeland and Milford Vanik. All except Vanik are air-plane engineers. Vanik recently went to Kansas City as a bureau of aeronautics inspector.

As vacations they build some of the world's fastest planes and as avocations they fly cumbersome, slow balloons.

Fairbanks is starting his vaca-tion with tonight's trip and will fly as far east as possible.

REVOLT IS SAID QUELLED AGAINST GRECIAN PREMIER

Uprising Breaks Out On the Island of Crete

Athens, July 29—(AP)—A revolt against the regime of General John Metaxas, dictator of Greece, ap-parently was crushed quickly to-day.

The governor of the island of Crete, where the uprising broke out, cabled Metaxas that order had been restored in Canea, the Crete capital.

All rebel-held government build-ings have been recaptured by au-thorities, he reported, and the re-volutionists have fled. In a late message the governor said all the rebels had surrendered.

Four hundred armed men, re-ported to be sailors, effected the coup by taking advantage of a weakened garrison at Canea. Most of the troops there had been sent to northern Greece to provide va-cation reliefs for other garrisons.

The seat of government in Crete was moved from Canea to Candia by one of the measures approved by King George to suppress the uprising.

The governor of Crete cabled to Athens that quiet had been re-stored. He said "the islanders strongly disapprove the rebels' ac-tion."

Premier Metaxas ordered army, navy and air forces to the island. Communication was suspended, and ships were not permitted to depart for the island.

Greece's last revolt, in the spring of 1935, led by the late, former premier Eleutherios Venizelos, was crushed after bloody naval and land engagements.

An Important Port

Venizelos, a native of Crete, started his revolt there. The cap-ital, population about 26,000 is an important port.

Premier Metaxas, who became premier April 28, 1936, established dictatorial powers on August 5 to crush what he said was an at-tempted Communist revolt.

He announced the first of this year that, in a continuing purge, he would use "severity without pity" to crush opposition. He rounded up nearly 100 opposition-ists in May.

Parliament was abolished in Greece by royal decree in August, 1936, nearly a year after restora-tion of the monarchy.

Since then the country has been ruled by Metaxas with his "non-party" cabinet. All political par-ties were abolished.

Metaxas holds the portfolios of foreign affairs, war, navy and air.

BRITISH CHEER AMERICAN HELP FOR REFUGEES

London, July 29—(AP)—The House of Commons recessed today until Nov. 1 after cheering United States cooperation on the Jewish refugee problem.

Earl Winterton in reporting on the Evian-Les-Bains refugee con-ference of July 6-15 to which he was British delegate—declared:

"I think we should recognize the intense interest not merely of the president of the government but also of the people of the United States in this matter."

This statement brought loud ap-plause.

Earlier, the British government's disclosure that the British des-troyer Hero stood by without re-taliating when a Spanish insurgent plane bombed and sank the steam-er Delwyn Wednesday in the British-operated port of Gambia, Spain, aroused bitter Laborite comment.

Colonel John Llewellyn, civil lord of the admiralty, made the dis-closure after Richard Austen But-ler, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, had declared the attack appeared deliberate.

HOME BUREAU MEETING
The Bradford Unit of the Home Bureau met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Ross of near Lee Center with 17 present, three of whom were visitors. Miss Elizabeth Coleman, home adviser was present and gave the major topic on "Collar Lines and the Effect of Texture." She displayed samples of materials and spoke of the combination of colors, besides showing numerous styles of collars and speaking of neck lines. The minor project on "Table Courtliness" was presented by Mrs. Wesley J. Attig. In response to roll call the members gave suggestions on short cuts to lighten work. The nominating committee brought in their report and the following were elected as officers for the new year: chairman, Mrs. Clarence Hart; vice-chairman, Mrs. George Vogeler, and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Fred Wagner. These officers will meet and appoint the remainder of them. Instead of the August meeting the members of the unit with their families will have a picnic at Lowell park, the date to be announced later. At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Ross served punch, cookies, and wafers. Those from Ashton who attended the meeting were: Mrs. Faust, H. Boyd and daughters, Miss Ruth and Esther, Mrs. Fred G. Schafer and Mrs. Wesley J. Attig.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES
The ice cream social, sponsored by the Park Board and the Conservation Department of the Ashton Woman's club will be held next Wednesday evening, Aug.

BEAUTIFUL GLADIOLUS
We have been enjoying perfectly beautiful gladiolus this week. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gross have been specializing in "glads" this year and have made a real success of them. Their "glad" beds are really worth going to see. Then too we had the pleasure of another perfectly lovely bouquet from the Fish-Edington wedding. There are many gladiolus beds in town. It is really worth one's time to walk around town and see the many lovely flowers.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES
Sunday school, 10 A. M. Preaching, 11 A. M. Special music by the junior choir.

LUTHERAN CHURCH
There will be no services in the Lutheran church.

IMA FILES PROTEST
Chicago—(AP)—A protest was made by the Illinois Manufacturer's Association to the Walsh-Healy act administration board against a proposed order to maintain prevailing wage scales in the steel industry. The association's complaint charged the order was a "primary obstacle to recovery in production and employment generally."

GOOD THOUGHTS
The secret of being loved is in being lovely; and the secret of being lovely is in being unselfish.

It is my humble prayer that I may be of some use in my day and generation.

—Hosea Ballou
All the doors that lead inward to the secret place of the Most High are doors outward—out of self, out of smallness, out of wrong.

—George MacDonald
God give me grace to do some act of worth.

—Jane M. Kinney
As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men.

My prayer, some daily good to do to Thee, for Thee; An offering pure of love, whereto God leadeth me.

BIBLE CONFERENCE—All who attended the service Thursday night had a new interest aroused in the missionary work being carried on in foreign lands. O. R. Govall, of Venezuela, told several interesting and yet pathetic incidents of superstitious and ignorance among the people of this country in which he labors.

Mrs. R. O. Stull gave an interesting message, as picture slides of missionary work throughout the world were being shown. Mrs. Stull is a missionary from Peru. Her experiences have been many and varied. Tonight she will speak on "Whom Ye Know Not." Sunday afternoon at 2:30 she will use the topic, "Modern Miracles on the Trail." At that time she will tell how God supplied an immediate need in a marvelous way. This will be a service of much interest to all. The church at 7:30 o'clock she will again speak. Her subject at this service "Triumphs Seen in Lives, in Hard Places of Earth." This will be a service of much interest to all.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. NYE

The Story So Far

A plot is on foot to smash the Rafter T. and "Blue" Ankrum takes a job there to help lovely Lee Trone. A man posing as a friend of the Trones is mysteriously shot. His accomplice, Betty, makes a play for Ankrum which puts him in bad with Lee. From Rafterford, the sheriff, Ankrum hears that Claydell, a neighboring rancher, is after the Trones' land because a railroad is going through. Ankrum shoots it out with a gang which has jumped the water tank. Lee follows him.

Chapter 25

When Ankrum finally faced Lee his face was calm. "Get it over with," he said.

"Get what over with?" "The remarks you've been saying up since that affair you misconstrued in the bunkhouse—the analysis of my character you've hit upon from observation of my conduct."

"Your conduct," she answered coolly, "is your own affair. And now her green eyes flashed. "But had you mentioned manners, I'd tell you frankly they're deplorable."

He doffed his hat in a mocking bow. Lee, he felt, not only regarded him as a liar, but as a man who readily unshucked his irons for pay. That she had some justification for such thoughts, made no difference — she had jumped to conclusions. Hadn't Betty's words proved this amply when she had passed on to him that day the condemnation she had heard from Lee's own lips?

"Since we're just a couple of redheads trying to be pleasant," he drawled, "I'd admire to remind you that we're not on a college campus here. This is the West—a place where men ain't never got accustomed to . . ."

He let his voice trail off, but made his meaning clear by the mockery with which he eyed her unconventional attire.

Lee jerked her silk dress over her knees. "Heaven knows why I should have steeped my hands in blood to save you from that lynx-tin horn!" she said angrily. Ankrum closed the distance between them by one long stride. "What's that?"

"I should have let that Dreen snake kill you—the world would have been a finer place!"

Ankrum's thoughts were crazy—"steeped my hands in blood"—"should have let that Dreen snake kill you." He did not hear the beat of approaching hoofs. He was staring at her blankly.

"What the hell you talkin' about?" He crossed to her horse with rapid strides. "What's this you're sayin' about Dreen?"

He reached for the bride but her loaded quirt struck down his hand; slashed him hard across the face.

"Don't touch me! Get away!" Her voice was thick with suppressed emotion. "I killed Kelton Dreen!"

With a sob she whirled her horse and was gone.

She Loved Him

She had killed Kelton Dreen! The impact of that revelation struck Ankrum far harder than her whip had done. The significance of her act was suddenly all too plain—she had shot Dreen to save his life because she loved him! Under any other circumstance she would have shouted a warning; but she hadn't risked that chance. His life had meant too much!

It was very plain to Ankrum now that Lee had loved him. Her love—if not her trust of him—had withstood that bunkhouse scene, and her fear for his safety had brought her after him to this cabin in such vigorous hurry she had found no time to swap her dress for more suitable riding gear. He groaned aloud.

A voice gasped behind him. "What's happened to the water-gobblers?"

"I sent 'em packing," Ankrum, after recognizing the newcomer for Ring-Legs, fell back in his pool of gloom.

Ring-Legs shoved back his hat, ran a hand across his shiny dome as he looked about the clearing regretfully. "I don't reckon them coyotes left peaceably," he mused aloud, eyeing Ankrum hopefully.

"Anyone get bad hurt?" "I expect I hit two-three of 'em. Next trespasser you catch on Rafter T property you've got my permission to shoot. I'll be responsible. Get on back to the—" Ankrum broke off abruptly; said: "Never mind. Stay here an' see that nobody jumps this water."

"Wh— where you figgerin' to head for?"

"I'm going to have a talk with Claydell," Ankrum said, and fed his buckskin steel.

Accusations

Claydell's ranch house was a rambling, single story affair with a thick sod roof and adobe walls that were tinted pink. Ankrum dismounted before the porch, dropped the buckskin's reins and strode within.

He found himself in a long, broad room that was neat and clean. Its walls were adorned with trophies, an Indian blanket or two, a mounted antelope head, a rack of rifles. Back of a desk beside a window Claydell was rising to his feet, an expression of polite wonder on his face.

"I'm Ankrum—foreman of the Rafter T."

Claydell was regarding him curiously. "Ankrum? Seems to me you're the chap who made Tom Rafterford back down over to the Trone place that night the pseudo Struthers man was killed. Seems like I recollect your name was Streeter . . ."

Ankrum grinned coldly. "Your mem'ry's good, Claydell. However, I didn't ride way over here to enter into a discussion of names. I hear you're interested in railroads."

"Railroads?" Claydell's face was blank.

"A particular railroad, then."

"I'm afraid I don't quite get you," Claydell said. "I'm not interested in any railroad. Whatever gave you that notion? Were you expecting to sell me some stock, or something?"

Ankrum said, "Are you interested in acquiring the Rafter T?"

"Not especially. I made Trone an offer once, several years ago. He didn't want to sell, he said."

Ankrum's white teeth gleamed coldly behind his parted lips. "Didn't want to sell, eh?"

"What are you driving at?" Claydell snapped.

"You wanted the Rafter T because you'd learned that a big road was planning to lay track from Amarillo to El Paso and would have to cross that land. You offered to buy, but Trone wouldn't sell. So you set out to smash him—to put him out of business so you could steal the property from Trone's daughter, for a fraction of its worth. You hired a bunch of saddle bums to rustle Rafter T beef. You bought Mose Hackett to help that deal along."

Claydell's eyes were widening; the first look of bewilderment was giving way to incredulity—to anger.

"You weren't making headway fast enough," Ankrum continued. "You were afraid news of the railroad would be leaking out. So you bought Heflie, the sheepman, body and soul an' sicked him onto the water at Rafter T's southwest line camp. To hold that water in case Rafter T kicked up you gave Heflie a bunch of gun-slicks an' you brought Bandera, the Mex killer, in to strengthen Heflie's hand."

WARRANTS FOR FOUR IN LOMBARD ASSAULT

Lombard, Ill., July 29—(AP)—One man was arrested and police held warrants for three others as the aftermath of an attack Wednesday on Warren B. Bolton, Lombard moving contractor, when he attempted to drive past a picket line at a housing project.

A labor dispute has been in progress for four months between the Landis Award Employers' Association and the DuPage County Building Council over wages. The council has established picket lines at housing projects.

Bolton, who is in the Elmhurst hospital recovering from injuries suffered when attacked by a group of men, obtained warrants for arrest of the four men.

Rest of the four men, Roy Leverenz, a business agent of the council, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. When arraigned before Justice of the Peace A. E. Watts he was released on $4,000 bond. A hearing was set for August 6.

Sheriff Arthur Bennet said the other three warrants would not be served until Bolton was released from the hospital.

The council called a strike June 13 when William Wallace, La Grange contractor, announced plans to build two dwellings here with Landis Award tradesmen. They would receive $1 an hour for skilled work, compared with the union scale of $1.75. Workmen have completed only partial excavations for the two buildings.

$61,000,000,000 INCOME IN NATION SEEN BY EXPERTS

Reduction Approximately Half of Estimate of the President

Washington, July 29—(AP)—Government experts said today the 1938 national income was virtually certain to exceed $61,000,000,000.

If it does, President Roosevelt's estimate of a $12,000,000,000 reduction below the 1937 figure will have been cut nearly in two. In his budget message to Congress, Roosevelt predicted a drop from $68,000,000,000 in 1937 to $56,000,000,000 in 1938.

The commerce department estimated yesterday the total income for the first half of 1938 was $30,630,000,000. Ordinarily income in the latter half of the year equals the first half.

Department officials said the prospective $7,000,000,000 reduction from 1937 might be lessened still further. Usually income payments fall off in mid-summer to a seasonal low point, but this year they have been moving upward, in contrast to the seasonal trend, since the middle of June.

Off 12 Per Cent

Nevertheless, the department said income payments for all of June were 12 per cent less than for the same month of last year.

Income payments to salaried employees and wage earners, which had dipped sharply from about $3,900,000,000 a month last fall, have been fairly stable since January at a monthly average of about $3,450,000,000.

Incomes of other kinds, in contrast, displayed no material reduction in the last half of 1937 but have fallen off rapidly since January.

The contraction of employees' incomes, the commerce department found, was concentrated in commodity-producing industries. In the mining, construction and manufacturing industries, compensation was 10 per cent lower in June than in January and 25 per cent below June, 1937.

June payrolls in trade and transportation were 4 per cent lower than in January and 9 per cent below last fall's peak.

The schedule of concerts for the two weeks period is tentative, except for concerts on Sunday evenings, July 31 and August 6. Week day concerts will probably be given on Tuesday, August 2, Thursday,

August 4, Tuesday, August 8 and Thursday, August 11.

The roster of the band is as follows: Captain Howard C. Bronson, conductor and commanding officer, Warrant Officer Gerald Huffman, assistant leader and cornet soloist, Technical Sergeant Chester Holland, First Sergeant, tuba, Staff Sergeant Lee I. Douglas, Assistant, flute and piccolo, Sergeant Horace Hedgcock, Supply Sgt., clarinet, Sergeant Robert Middlekauff, Company Clerk, trombone, Sergeant Robert Allen, Duty Sergeant, drum, Sergeant John Goucher, Equipment Caretaker, tuba, Corporal Harry Beardsley, Duty, cornet, Corporal William Price, Recruit Drillmaster, tuba.

Mt. Morris Doings

Mrs. Lucy Meeker, Reporter.

For the thirteenth time since Mount Morris became the home station for the 129th Infantry band, the members of that famous organization are packing trunks, barracks bags and general storage equipment preparatory to leaving early Saturday morning for the annual two weeks tour of duty at Camp Grant with the 33rd Division. Early it will be, because the seven Army trucks will arrive at the band armory at 4:41 A. M. At 4:30, Technical Sergeant Chester Holland, who is First Sergeant of the band, will call roll, the boys will "heave to" and with everything securely stowed away, the convoy will move out in time to report to the traffic control officer, who will be stationed at the intersection of routes 72 and 2, thence, on to Camp Grant where the band trucks are due at 6:41.

Truck movements are carefully supervised and drivers and convoy commanders must make reports, covering the exact time of departure, loading, break downs, accidents and arrival at destination. It is from these reports that data is gathered for the analysis of trucks as a means of military transportation.

After breakfast at Camp Grant, the bandmen will carry floors, pitch tents, fill beds sacks with straw, make their beds and settle down in their canvas homes for the coming two weeks. With dinner out of the way, rehearsal for the first Guard Mount will begin and, later in the day, the band will officially serenade the officers and men of the regiment.

In addition to usual drills and rehearsals, it will be necessary to devote considerable time preparing for the Division Guard Mount. Inaugurated last year, this competitive function held at Division Headquarters will necessitate some intensive training as the 129th Infantry will compete on Tuesday, August 2.

For the first time since the economy days when the National Guard quotas were materially reduced, the 129th band is going to camp with over forty players. While this is considerably more than is authorized for the organization, special permission has been received to temporarily increase the strength of the band.

The schedule of concerts for the two weeks period is tentative, except for concerts on Sunday evenings, July 31 and August 6. Week day concerts will probably be given on Tuesday, August 2, Thursday,

August 4, Tuesday, August 8 and Thursday, August 11.

The roster of the band is as follows: Captain Howard C. Bronson, conductor and commanding officer, Warrant Officer Gerald Huffman, assistant leader and cornet soloist, Technical Sergeant Chester Holland, First Sergeant, tuba, Staff Sergeant Lee I. Payrolls and Work Show Some Decline

Chicago, July 29—(AP)—Employment and payrolls in Illinois industry dropped in June for the ninth consecutive month, the state labor department reported today.

A total of 430,400 workers was employed in 6,715 manufacturing and non-manufacturing establishments in June, a drop of 1.6 per cent from May. The average weekly pay check shrank 2.3 per cent to $25.20.

Both downward trends, the department pointed out, were contractional.
